HUMOROUS.

—Paris husband and wife—He: "Assuredly you were born to marry an idiot!" She: "Yes, and I made no mistake"

—"Isn't this shirred bonnet just too sweet for anything?" asked Mrs. Smith of her husband. "I shirred think it was," answered Mr. Smith, as he inspected the bill.—Waif.

—Coal is cheaper in Cleveland than elsewhere in the country. Two and a half loads of it were recently sold there for seventy-five cents. But then the old woman was away on a visit and the son wanted to go to a circus, and he had sold everything else about the house.—N. Y. Herald.

—Something awful will happen to the bad boy whose sister Minnie was the young preacher's sweet-heart. He pinned up a piece of paper in the parlor, wrote, "Minnie, Minnie, tickle the parson!" on it, and then wanted to know if she had "seen the handwriting on the wall."—Detroit Post.

—An old hag, while begging in front of a gentleman's house on Walnut street, was told by the owner to "move on," when she turned upon him and dramatically uttered the following terrible curse: "May y're daughters kindle fires with kerosene and y're sons play with toy pistols."—Philadelphia News.

—There is a man in Norristown who invests no faith in the sign that if you "make a wish when you see the new moon over your right shoulder you will get what you wish for." A year ago he saw the new moon over his right shoulder, and wished for ten thousand dollars, and says he hasn't got 'em yet. There must have been something the matter with the moon or his shoulder that night, and he shouldn't let one little disappointment discourage him.—Norristown Herald.

—The committee appointed to collect metal for cannon for General Beauregard's army, applied to a planter of Adams County, Miss., for his bell. Not having such an article, he mentioned it to his wife, when she very patriotically offered her brass kettle. The little ones rather demurred to the sacrifice, and one of them, with a sweet tooth, said: "La, pa, what will we do for preserves?" "My daughter," said the wag of a father, "our whole duty now is to preserve our country." The kettle was sent.—N. Y. Post.

The Meteors of the Dog Days.

The August meteors made a fine display this year, and attracted much attention, even from those who ordinarily care little for star gazing. On Thursday and Friday nights the meteors fell probably at the rate of a hundred in an hour. Many were so small that they seemed, as they darted across the sky, to be mere lines of light. A large number left phosphorescent trails which were seen to curl, break up, and gradually fade several seconds after the meteors had disappeared. One, seen in the eastern heavens at ten o'clock on Thursday night, appears to have been of extraordinary size and brilliancy. It is described as looking as large as the full moon on the horizon. It was heart-shaped, and the broader end appeared to spread out into flames, in which blue and red lines were conspicuous. It seemed to fall straight downward, but this was unquestionably an effect of perspective. No explosion was witnessed and no noise heard.

No one who watched the meteors long could fail to notice how their paths radiated from a common center in the constellation Perseus. During the five days that the earth occupied in traversing the meteor stream, which is in some places about 3,000,000 miles broad, the number of these bodies that entered our atmosphere, and were consumed by the intense heat developed by friction against the particles of the air, must have been enormous. If they were not thus consumed a shower of meteors would be a menace to human life. The amount of debris they leave floating in the air in the shape of meteoric dust and other products of combustion, is comparatively insignificant, and yet not too small to be perceptible. Meteoric dust is continually finding its way slowly down to the earth's surface, and it is found even in the ooze of the sea bottom. A plate, coated with some sticky substance, and exposed to the air at a considerable elevation, and in localities where ordinary dust is not likely to be found, will collect particles of meteoric iron, especially after the earth has passed through a stream like that of the August or November meteors.

It is a fact of great interest that meteors are probably bodies which have been expelled from the stars as well as from our own sun. Thus we are able to put our hands upon substances which have actually came from the sidereal universe, and have been vaporous constituents in the whirling furnace of a sun.—N. Y. Sun.

ACTUAL RESULTS.

DECATUR, ILL., Oct. 10, 1882.

MESSRS WARREN & DURFEE, Agents Equitable Life Assurance Society, New York, Decatur, Ill.

Gentlemen: I have to acknowledge the receipt through you of $272.51 from the Society, in prompt compliance with its contract, that amount being the cash value of my Equitable Life Tontine Policy No. 75,179, at the close of the Tontine period of ten years, October 1, 1882. The result is highly satisfactory to me. The cost of the policy, which in case of my demise during said term would have been worth just $1000 cash to my wife, has been only $64.69 for the term, an average of only $6.47 per year. I am aware that either of the other methods of settlement placed at my option by the Society would be as profitable to me as the one chosen, the only difference being that the settlement selected suits my circumstances better. In any case, I can with the utmost candor say that I know of no insurance that affords so great a return for the money invested as a Tontine Policy in the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York.

Very respectfully yours,
Oct. 16—dtf FRANCIS S. GRIMES.

In explanation of the foregoing letter, we add the following:

Dr F. S. Grimes took out the said policy at the age of 42.

Annual premium	$ 33 72
Total premiums paid in the 10 years	337 20
Cash paid him upon surrender of policy	272 51
Total cost of his ten years' insurance, waiving interest	64 69

The other plans of settlement equivalent thereto, that he had the choice of, were as follows:

A paid-up policy for	$560 00
Paid up insurance, to be added to old policy if continued	207 00
Or, reserve, retained for old policy	179 99
Surplus, payable to assured in cash	101 52
Or, surplus will pay one year's premium and purchase an annuity for life of	5 53
To which add probable dividend of 1883,	9 17
Total dividend	$ 14 70

Which would be 44 per cent. of his annual premium.

The other percentages are as follows:

Surplus earned—30 per cent. of total premiums.
Total cash val.—81 " "
Paid up insurance, added to old policy—61 per cent. of total premiums.
Policy paid in full—161 per cent. of total premiums.

Respectfully submitted,
WARREN & DURFEE, Agents.

Late Fashion Notes.

New silver bracelets are made in exact imitation of the handcuffs worn by criminals.

A pretty dress stuff for children's suits is a crape-finished serge in broken Scottish plaids.

Carnations, marsh-mallows, poppies and ox-eye daisies are the most fashionable flowers for trimming fall round hats of dark straw.

Handsome "Roman" and "Egyptian" pens, clasps, jeweled bands and buckles, made in the United States, are a prominent feature of millinery and cloak garniture this season.

Small capotes of white or tinted satin, completely covered with soft fluffy white ostrich tips, are worn. They are very pretty and becoming to youthful ladies. For their elders the same fashion in black, bronze, brown, garnet and dark green is much followed.

Black silk stockinet jerseys are very stylishly worn with skirts of black velvet and broad sash drapery to cover the joining over the hips, made of moire or black surah deeply fringed on the ends. To the jersey are added a velvet shoulder cape and velvet cuffs which reach to the elbows.

Ribbon, in velvet, moire or satin, is worn in great profusion on dresses and mantles as sashes, bows for draping scarfs and tunics, papillon bows, scattered over flounces and puffings, and loops pendant over kiltings, appearing amid folds of lace, or as edges to bodice and tunic.

Silk batiste, broches and silk grenadines will continue to be worn for some weeks to come. These dresses are always made up over silk to give them a certain rich and firm appearance, which otherwise they would lack, and for this reason they can be worn until late in the year.

The Jeanne d'Arc corsage, open on one side and laced with silk cords, and corslets laced under the arms, alluded to early in the summer, will be much worn with full evening dress this and the coming season. These corsages are cut square, heart shape, or in a V point in the neck, and accompanied by a guimpe and sleeves of white lace, or a chemise Russe of white muslin, embroidered in the varied colors of the dress.

Thick, soft, all-wool serges in heavy distinct twill are brought out this autumn in dark, stylish cloth colors, olive and laurel green, ruby, seabieuse, garnet, putty color, royal blue, wood brown, and in many shades of gray. An attractive material also for the season is wool sateen, a fine fabric, corresponding to the cotton sateen worn all summer, but much more durable and appropriate to the cooler weather. It answers the same purpose as cashmere, but has more body and a smooth satin-like surface.

A pretty street dress of dark olive brown merveilloux is made very short with a close shirring reaching from the waist downward to the depth of twelve inches. Below this are narrow ruffles edged with olive-brown velvet, which extend to the foot of the dress, over this skirt is laid a graceful scarf drapery of the merveilleux arranged à l'Esclave—higher on one side than the other, and held at the left side with a large bronze enamel slide. The bodice is short on the hips, with long points front and back and is open at the chest over a gauged plastron of the merveilleux. At each side of the opening are wide revers of bronze-brown velvet.

The English walking-coats of hunter's green, admiral blue, mastic, or amber-colored cloth, fastened with silk cords, and brandebourgs or frogs, are more than ever the fashion this season. These chic-looking coats are infinitely more becoming to graceful figures than a cape, dolman, or short visite, setting off the form to fine advantage. The stylish "Dorsay" polonaise of plain cloth in monochrome colors, or of cheviot in miniature checks and stripes, is also highly popular for traveling purposes or promenade dress, overskirts of velvet, silk, satin, or velveteen of a deeper shade than the fabric composing the polonaise.

For autumn wear the very richest lampas velvet, embroidered satins, moire antique, and moire Francais, with satin stripes brocaded in velvet, silk, satin, or velvet rai-sed on gold or silver cloth, are to be used in the composition of the most elegant toilets. These rich fabrics can be employed for jackets, plastron fronts, tablers, or panels, and in some cases for very grand toilets they are to be used for dresses cut en princesse. Such materials should never be draped, but allowed to fall in long, unbroken folds, with as few loopings as possible; and as to trimming, there should be none except upon the bodice, and here it should be of lace of the richest description.—N. Y. Evening Post.

The Root Soap.

This soap is taken from the Mexican Palmea or Soap Root, and contains no animal fat. As a toilet soap it is superior to anything ever offered to the public. While its cleansing capacity is six times greater than any soap made from alkali and grease, it contains nothing that would injure the most delicate skin; on the contrary it will cure chapped hands, pimples, sunburn, and all diseases of the skin. After washing with this soap a short time the skin becomes smooth and soft, rendering the complexion clear and beautiful. It will be found valuable as a hair wash, in renovating and preventing dandruff. Its great purity and freedom from mineral and animal substances make it the most desirable article in the infant bath that can be produced. It is the cheapest soap you can buy, because it will go farther and give better satisfaction than any other.

Don't fail to give it a trial. For sale by all dealers. Manufactured by

It's a cold day when the Republicans of Decatur get left.

THERE never was such a scoop in Macon county before.

BUT isn't Sheriff Foster a daisy on the run!

AND George P. Hardy, for an old man, is a terrible runner.

THE first ward is—but then, what's the use in particularizing when all the wards did so well?

AN $8 coffin will do for the "senator," though we should prefer to see him buried with a little more style.

THE "workingmen" voted yesterday, but when the ballots came to be counted they were not for the "senator"

MR. ROGERS [illegible] the extravagant [illegible] general [illegible]

The [illegible] shows that the people prefer to trust him anyhow, rather than risk his opponent.

WHEN ex-"Senator" Jack made his speech at Niantic he said he felt like "a good lawyer with a good case, before an intelligent jury." Well, the jury in that case rendered its verdict yesterday, and the lawyer must evidently feel that his case was not as good as he anticipated—his client must have lied to him.

THE Review will hardly reproduce the following squibs from its columns of a few days ago.

Good lordy! What's the use in talking? The whole Democratic ticket is on a perfect boom. It is now only a question of how large the Democratic majorities will be.

The "German" will not be a popular dance in Republican society circles this winter.

Democrats, let us vote en masse, and make the 7th of November a memorable one in the history of Illinois.

These must be cheerful reading just now, with the figures of yesterday's election staring it in the face like so many ghosts of departed hopes

THE example of the Republicans of Macon county is respectfully commended to their disgruntled brethren in other localities. While discord and cross-purposes prevailed elsewhere, here all was harmony, and with a few trifling exceptions the whole party rallied to the support of the ticket. The consequence is that the Republicans here made an important gain over their majority in 1880, and elected their entire ticket, with the exception of county superintendent. This result was only accomplished by the most vigorous work, and a determination upon the part of those who are recognized as leaders in the party that all differences must be buried and a grand attack made all along the line. The workers did their whole duty, and they can reflect with the most lively satisfaction upon the fruits of their labor. All honor to them. They have shown what good, solid work will accomplish, and have furnished an example for the future that cannot be too highly commended.

Look on this Picture and then on That.

On the 14th of August the editor of the Review, in acknowledging through his paper a call from Mr. Rogers, said: "We served a formal notice on him that we would beat him 200 votes."

The Review of Wednesday morning, Nov. 8th, in speaking of the result of the election, said: "The indications are that Mr. Rogers is elected senator."

What a change in the tune sung by the editor in less than three short months. One is the glorious, happy song of the golden summer—the other the mournful dirge of the bleak and dark November.

THE 14TH DISTRICT.

The advices from Logan county indicate that it has given a majority for Stevenson. McLean has given Rowell about 700 majority, Macon county 307, and he probably has also a majority in DeWitt and Piatt, which two latter counties will overcome what there is against him in Logan, leaving his majority substantially what he has in Macon and McLean. Capt. Rowell may well feel proud of his triumphant election, after a campaign in which his opponents resorted to every stratagem to compass his defeat.

The Legislative Ticket.

Mr. Rogers' majority in Macon county, according to the unofficial table we print to-day, is 603. Advices from Logan are that he has a majority of 100 in that county. For Representatives, Messrs. Crocker and Foster are surely elected, and as Dr. Miller is ahead of Templeman some ten votes in Logan, and 139½ in this county, he is the third man, as we have all along predicted.

THE STATE.

From present indications the state of Illinois has given a Republican majority. The editor of this paper had two communications to-day from Gov. Cullom, by telephone, the latest about noon. The governor inquired the news from Macon county, and waved his hat, metaphorically, of course, and stated that according to his advices from the chairman of the state central committee the Republicans had carried Cook county, electing three members of congress and more members of the legislature than they had ever claimed. He stated, also, that the legislature is Republican beyond doubt. Both parties are claiming the congressman in the Belleville district. There is no doubt of the election of Rowell in this district. The vote on state officers seems to have been lost sight of, and we shall have to wait until to-morrow to find out the majority, but there seems to be no doubt that Smith and Strattan are both elected.

IN OTHER STATES.

While the Republicans of Macon county have every reason to rejoice in the glorious victory they achieved yesterday—the most substantial they ever won—their rejoicings are not unmingled with sadness on account of the deplorable results which have naturally followed the divisions and bickerings among the Republicans of New York, Pennsylvania and other states, by which state officers and congressmen have been lost, and the national house of representatives turned over to the tender mercies of the Bourbon Democracy. This result was not unexpected, but if it will serve to teach the Republicans that they cannot divide if they wish to conquer, but must stand shoulder to shoulder, ignoring all petty differences and personal quarrels—if it suffices to relegate disorganizers and bolters to the rear the disaster will not be entirely unmixed with good. The revolution is not to be compared with that of 1874, from which the party rallied two years later, just as it will recover from this temporary backset, and in 1884 march on with solid ranks to an old-time victory.

THE editor of the Review can no longer be called "Senator."

Printing the Tickets in New York.

New York Herald, Nov. 4.

Before sunrise on Tuesday next 2,064 ticket booths will be set up near the polling places in the 688 election districts in this city, and in these ticket booths 2,064 accredited servants of the political parties will be prepared to offer 48,000,000 ballots to 196,000 electors. These ballots are nearly ready in three printing offices down town for delivery to the magnates of politics. The printers have been running their presses night and day for a week on the electrotypes' plates for the ballots, and this part of the complicated and gigantic work of an election in New York City might have been completed ere this time but for a few tardy nominations. Six hundred girls and twenty folding machines have begun the task of folding and bunching these ballots, eight in a bunch, as they are to be delivered to the electors, and by Saturday evening next large truck loads of ballots in bags, aggregating 800 reams of paper, will roll up to the politicians' headquarters, there to be ready for the distribution that is made every year on the Sunday before election.

The cost of these ballots is best known by the printers and the campaign committees. It is, however, mere bagatelle in the cost of the New York election Every man of the regiment of candidates expended $1 in the bar rooms and elsewhere to get his nomination for every cent that his ballots will cost. The $163,000 awarded the board of elections covers the cost of polling places, boards of registry and election clerks; but this is less money than is required to pay the watchers and the vote peddlers and the ward committees who scrutinize the registry in every election district; and all these fabulous expenditures aggregated will fall far below the worth of the time spent by members of the ward political associations in plotting for party ascendancy. Who will ever know the cost of a New York election?

A Warning from Russia.

New York Mail and Express.

The cost of fire insurance has increased one-fifth in Russia as the result of the growing frequency of great fires. What nihilism is doing in Russia carelessness is doing in America. Our annual fire loss is increasing alarmingly. It is now more than $80,000,000, so that about one-seventh of the nation's increase in wealth is burned. Fire insurance rates will increase 20 per cent. in this country or the underwriters will be ruined, unless systematic efforts are made to reduce the fire loss. Hardly any more important subject addresses itself to our public men than that of the reduction of the nation's loss by fire.

THE supreme court of Illinois has been formally notified by James T. Latham that on the opening of its next session at Mount Vernon, a motion will be made to erase the name of Franklin L. Chase, of Chicago, from the roll of attorneys.

THE Washington monument has now attained the height of the goddess of liberty on the capitol dome. The latter is 287 feet above the ground, which is 90 feet above the Potomac. The monument, standing on lower ground, is now 330 feet high, and has 220 feet, including 50 feet of roof, to go.

NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

THE ELECTIONS.

A Democratic Victory in New York and Pennsylvania.

Mahone's Ticket Successful in Virginia.

Mixed Results and Contradicting Reports.

Special to Republican.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Nov. 7—Rowell quite probably elected. McLean county gives him one thousand majority, other counties doing well.

DAILY PANTAGRAPH.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8, 12:30 a. m.—The chairman of the state republican committee, who has received private advices from all parts of the state, says the republicans have carried the state and the legislature, and will hold their own on congressmen with a possible gain of one. The committee could furnish no figures as to majorities to night. Senator Logan told an associated press reporter shortly after 12 p. m., that in his opinion the state would give a good Republican majority, that all the Republican congressmen in Chicago were elected, and there would probably be a gain of one in the state. He had received no private dispatches concerning the result elsewhere.

CHICAGO, ILL., Nov. 7, 10 p. m.—Chairman Republican state committee says: R. W. Dunham, rep., elected to congress from 1st dist.; John F. Finnerty, ind., in 2d district; also Wm. C. Keuffner, rep., has defeated Wm. R. Morrison in 18th district.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7, 9:50 p. m.—Arndt, dem., elected from the 29th district. Duchess county undoubtedly democratic for the first time in many years.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 7, 8:30 p. m.—This city gives Cleveland 2,500 to 3,000. Moulton, rep., elected to congress.

COMDEN, N. Y., Nov. 7, 7:50 p. m.—Brewer, Rep., for congress in the second district is re elected by about 700 majority.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The indications are that Queens county will give 3,500 majority for Cleveland. The majority for Cleveland in the state is estimated by the Express, a Republican paper, at from 80,000 to 100,000. The Express bulletin says Edson is undoubtedly elected mayor and estimates his majority at 30,000.

BOSTON, MASS., Nov. 7, 7 p. m.—The Journal (rep.) figures a plurality in the state for Butler of 20,000, but claims the entire republican state ticket. Bishop is elected, and at present returns indicate legislature republican by reduced majority.

LOWELL, MASS., Nov. 7.—Butler's majority here not less than 15,000 to 18,000.

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 7, 9 p. m.—Vote in 25 towns gives Hall, rep., 2,944, Edgerly, dem, 3,190, scattering, 932. Republican net loss in these places on vote of 1880, 30.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Nov. 7.—Private advices to prominent politicians indicate the probable election of Edgerly, dem., for governor. Republicans claim the election of Haines to congress in the first district, although democrats do not concede it. Both branches of the legislature will be republican. Republican county officers in this county are elected.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 7, 8:50 p. m.—Eaton, dem., will have 1,000 majority in first congressional district. Mitchell, dem., in second, Seymour, dem., in fourth, and Wayte, rep, in third, successful. This is republican loss of two congressmen.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 7, 8:50 p. m.—Election in the city quiet. Average vote polled. Owing to length of ticket and bad arrangements for gathering returns, nothing can be known to-night.

MILWAUKEE, WIS., Nov. 7—7:25 p. m.—Election returns coming in slow. All reports so far indicate large Democratic gains in every congressional district. D. R. Andrews, chairman of democratic central committe, claims 5, probably 6, out of 9 congressmen; democratic gain of 3 representatives.

NEWTON, KAN., Nov. 7, 8 p. m.—Halstead, Harvey county, gives St. John 89, Glick 102, Robinson 13.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 7, 10:30 p. m.—James F. Clay, dem., elected to congress in 2d district. T. A. Roberson, dem., succeeds Proctor Knott in 4th district. Albert S. Willis re-elected in 5th, John G. Carlisle in the 6th, J. C. S. Blackburn in the 7th, Phil B. Thompson, dem., probably elected in the 8th. Gen. Frank Wolford is almost certainly elected in the 11th district. Hallzell, dem., in 3d, probably elected. Election in 10th district close; prospects Culberton, rep., is elected.

RICHMOND, VA., Nov. 7.—The democrats claim as certain the election of the following congressmen: Garrison in the first district, Geo. D. Wise in the third, Tucker in the sixth, and Barbour in the eighth. The coalitionists are jubilant and claim the election of John S. Wise for congressman at large by from 15,000 to 25,000, also claim six congressmen—Mayo in the first, Libbey in the second, Hooper in the fourth, Sims in the fifth, Paul in the seventh, and Bowen in the eighth.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Berks county gives the Pattison ticket 7,935 majority. The Democrats elect all their candidates to the assembly, and Lehigh county gives Pattison 2,000 majority for congress. Mutchler has 1,900 majority. The Democrats elect assemblymen. Lackawana county gives Beaver a plurality of 500; Scranton, for congress, 1,000; Waters, state senate, 1,200. In Dauphin county Beaver's plurality is about 1,300. McCormick, Democratic candidate for congress, runs largely ahead of his ticket. The Republicans elect assemblymen. In Carbon county Pattison has about 1,000 plurality; Elliott, Dem., for congress at large, has 750 plurality. For congress Storm has 750 majority; Biddis, for senator, has about the same. The Democrat select assemblymen. In Luzerne county Pattison's plurality is 3,000, as indicated by the returns now in. Huntington county returns now in show the county quite close, with indications of a small plurality for Pattison. Stewart's (Independent) vote will be about 750. Bayne, Rep., is re-elected.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Bayne is elected to congress from the twenty-third district by a large majority, having no Democratic opposition. From the twenty-second district the returns are meagre but it is believed Errett, Rep., will have 1,500 majority. Mutchler, Democratic candidate for congress, is elected in the tenth district by 8,000 majority. Northampton county gives Pattison 4,000 plurality; Stewart's vote is about 600. J. S. Hess, Democrat, is elected to the state senate in the eighth district. The Democrats elect all their assemblymen. Bradford county gives Beaver a plurality of about 400. Union county, ten townships give Beaver a plurality of 45, which indicates that he will have a small plurality in the county. Lancaster county gives Beaver 4,000 plurality. Brosius runs considerably ahead of his ticket. Lebanon county gives Beaver and the rest of the state ticket on the Republican side 1400 plurality. Barr, for Congress in the fourteenth district, gets 1300 majority in the county. The Republicans elect all their Assemblymen. Washington county gives Beaver 300 plurality. For congress in the 24th district, Lawrence has 200 majority in this county.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7, 9:50 p. m.—Harry White, rep., probably defeated for congress in 25th district, and Samuel Barren, rep., in 14th district.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Nov. 7, 8 p. m.—Scattering returns from a few precincts in the state show small republican gains. Peelle, rep., for congress in the Indianapolis district probably elected.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 7, 9:10 p. m.—Bulletins are made by comparing votes cast to day with that cast for governor two years ago, when Porter republican candidate, had a plurality of 6,954 in a total vote of 470,738. State and county officers were voted for, and it will be late before returns come in fully. At 9:35 p. m. we have heard from 10 voting places, which show a republican loss of 50 and a democratic loss of 23, being a net democratic gain of 27.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Nov 7. At 12 o'clock returns have been received from 50 voting places, and show a net Democratic gain on the State ticket, indicating a Democratic majority in the State of 2,000. Heilman, rep., in the First Congressional District, is probably defeated. The Democrats elect Congressmen in the Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Twelfth Districts. The Republicans in the Sixth, Seventh, Tenth, Eleventh and Thirteenth; Eighth and Ninth doubtful, Senator McDonald and Hon. W. H. English, of the Democratic Central Committee, claim a gain of four Congressmen, viz: in the First, Seventh, Ninth and Tenth, and a majority on the State ticket of 5,000 to 8,000; also a clear majority in the House of Representatives, but concede the Senate close on account of a majority of Senators holding over. The Republican Committee concede the State to be very close, but claim the election of Congressmen in the Eighth and Ninth Districts.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7, 7:45.—Reports from Pennsylvania show Beaver defeated by 30,000 majority.

RANATOWN, Tex., Nov. 7.—This town gives Breckenridge, Dem., 106 majority; Jones, Dem., 119 majority.

Galveston, Tex., solid for Democrats. Much scratching for congressional and county officers.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—A colliery explosion occurred at the Clay Cross mines in Derbyshire, of which only meager reports are received. It is known, however, that thirty persons, mostly miners, were killed. Four of the managers of the mines were blown to atoms. Frightful scenes are being enacted about the mouth of the shaft. Many large families are left without means of support.

The explosion, which was terrific in its force and deadly effect, shattered buildings in localities five miles distant from the mines. A chair at the bottom of the shaft was blown up through the mouth of the colliery into the headgear. The greatest consternation prevails in the neighborhood.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—In the criminal court this morning, the counsel for A. C. Soteldo made a motion to withdraw the plea of "Not guilty of assault with intent to kill Clarence M. Barton," and enter the plea of autrefois acquit (formally acquitted). The court allowed the first motion, but directed counsel to put the latter in writing, saying he would hear the matter argued. He expressed the intention of trying the cases now in jail before proceeding with the Soteldo-Barton trial.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The president did not go to the polls until after 3 o'clock. He voted at 402 Third Avenue, and was accompanied by his brother, Major Wm. Arthur, and his messenger. He voted the Republican state and county tickets, including O'Brien for county clerk.

Sep7-d&wtf CHEAP CHARLEY.

NOT so very long ago the treasury department was called upon, in the ordinary course of business, to decide the grave question: Is journalism a profession? It rendered an affirmative decision. It is now confronted with the solemn inquiry: Is a frog a fish? If so the large importations for food purposes from Canada are dutiable, otherwise free trade can be enjoyed in that delicious luxury. The next question will be: Are angle worms oysters? The French, from whom we have learned to relish frogs' legs, have discovered that these little wigglers, hitherto supposed to be valuable only as fish bait, if properly cooked make most toothsome soup, patties, and fries.

THE Erie road appears to have found out, what many railroad men have not yet, that cheap fares are the best policy. It has just put out 1,000 mile tickets at 2 cents a mile, available for any member of a family or of a firm, and good for a year from date. Probably the conductors will not be instructed to inquire very closely into relationships of those who may sucessively hold any ticket of this issue. The result will be a very general reduction of fares and a tremendous increase of business. Cheapening rates is almost as certain to increase business as two and two are to make four.

THE money making conspirators who force up the prices of the necessaries of life by "cornering" them, are among the worst of public enemies. They differ only in degree from the highwaymen, the pickpockets and the confidence operators of criminal life. Their chief victims are the poor, whom they plunder of their scanty income in the false name of trade.

M. DUCLERC, the present prime minister of France, is claimed by the "typos" as a former member of their craft. Like Pierre Leroux, Hegesippe Moreau, Buloz, and Proudhon, M. Duclerc was at one time proof-reader on a modest little journal called Le Bons Sens.

KING KALAKAUA will be "coronated" on the 12th of February, 1883. He will have abundance of Sandwiches for refreshments on that occasion, his islands raising 'em. He imports his subjects, his clothes and his ministers, and his crown and scepter. He should go in for protection.

PRESIDENT ARTHUR has yielded to the wishes of his bright and pretty little daughter Nellie, and will allow her to pursue her studies in a select school for young ladies in this city this winter. When it was determined that Miss Nellie should reside at the white house this winter, President Arthur proposed to employ a governess to educate his daughter, but the little lady pleaded so hard to be allowed to compete with other girls that he was decided to start her off to school to-morrow morning. Miss Nellie is said to be remarkably intellectual for her age, and very ambitious During her brief visits here she formed several agreeable acquaintances, who will be delighted to welcome her as a school-mate.—Washington Herald.

THE saddle which was made for President Garfield just before his assassination has been presented by General Swaim to the managers of the Garfield Monument fair. The saddle is an exquisite specimen of workmanship, and is of the most recent pattern. It is of white leather, with patent stump, leader irons, and large stirrups, and combines great strength with lightness.

GOVERNOR ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS, of Georgia, dislikes to be called "Governor." He prefers "Mister." He'll get over that by and by, when he finds that folks will insist upon calling him governor, whether or no.

TO-MORROW evening the Mr. and Mrs. McKee Rankin' Company will present the ever popular American drama of "The Danites." This play has probably enjoyed as long a run as any play ever written, having been presented by Mr. Rankin in all the principal cities of England, Ireland, Scotland and the entire United States. "The Danites" possesses a story peculiarly its own, dealing, as it does, with the early life of California, it brings into view the better nature of the untntored element that found its way to the land of golden promise, in the early days when a trip to California was as gigantic as a trip around the entire world would be in the present day. The company has been selected by Mr. Rankin with great care, and an enjoyable performance may be expected. The Rankins will not appear with the company. They are in the east playing in "49."

A FREEZE OUT FOR DEMOCRATS

A Big Crowd at the Court House Last Night to Hear the Returns.

Republicans Enthusiastic Over the Result in the County.

This is the Bird We Raise in Macon County.

THE TRICKS OF THE DEMOCRATS OUTWITTED BY REPUBLICAN VOTES.

Every Man on the County Ticket Elected Except Philbrook.

GLORY ENOUGH FOR ONE DAY!

An election was held in Macon county yesterday for state and county officers, and last night there was a big crowd of republicans and democrats at the court house to hear the returns read as they came in by telegraph and telephone. The news from the South and East was mostly of a democratic tone, but when the figures from the city and county came in it was soon apparent that Democrats had been snowed under by old time Republican majorities. The tricks and underhanded work of the demmies didn't pan out worth a nickel, for Rogers for senator, Crocker and Foster for representatives, Wood for treasurer, Greer for judge, Hardy for clerk, Foster for sheriff, and Bendure for coroner, are all elected by big majorities, as will be seen by consulting the tabulated statement of the vote cast as given on this page. It was a hard and determined fight in Decatur township and the country did well.

The democratic steamer, "Defeated," went up Salt Creek early this morning, with "we'll beat (Rogers) him by 200," Jack as captain, and Waggoner, Clark, Ray, and Dinneen on board as the crew, Philbrook going along to make observations in the interest of Trainer, who at the last moment concluded that he hadn't time to make the trip. At last accounts Austin township was reached, when Captain Jack bethought himself to stop the steamer and begin a search for that voter who gave Rogers one majority in that heretofore democratic precinct; scores of voters claimed to be entitled to the honor; and as soon as Ray recovered from his 40th chill, the steamer passed on its mournful way for the head waters of the historical stream.

There have been the happiest lot of Republicans on the streets of the city one could wish to meet, and the successful candidates have been almost overwhelmed with congratulations of the heartiest character. The defeat of Waggoner was predicted, but it was not expected by the most sanguine Republicans that he would be put out by such an immense majority. Hardy got there Eli in great shape, and he will make a splendid county clerk.

The Ray combination didn't win by several hundred, and the trusted and tried Wood will continue to occupy the treasurer's office and look after the people's money.

And Bendure. Well, he got there, too, and he will perform the duties of coroner with credit to himself and to the people who have chosen him as their servant.

Of course, no one imagined for a moment that Judge Greer would be defeated, and he is retained for another four years of faithful service by the usual majority.

"So mote it be."

LOST, strayed or stolen from Macon county—the Bourbon Democracy. No reward for its return.

LATER—Obituary Extraordinary! "In the midst of life we are in death.' Slipped its wind on the 7th of November, '82, the once time honored but recently spurious Democratic party of Macon county, Illinois. The disease was of a complicated nature. To sum it up it was a general letting down of the body politic, but did not assume a virulent type till the soul of the lamented Douglas winged its flight to the regions of heavenly bliss, where all the patriots of earth will be blessed.

Verdict of the coroner's jury: "In the matter of the inquisition on the body of the Democratic party, we, the jurors, find that it came to its death by reason of being choked while attempting to swallow a Republican tariff blanket. Its perilous condition did not permit respiration, but it was after a time impossible on account of the obstruction in the throat to administer a sufficiency of health giving elixir to sustain life. For a time it was characteristically vigorous, but after the "Ohio idee" lost its efficacy. It took a relapse and fell with the autumn leaves. Peace to its memory. It hath served mankind in its palmy days. At a meeting of the nickel Republicans, who had learned to love the deceased, the usual resolutions of condolence were passed, and it was decided to perpetuate the memory of the deceased. Also to build in their residences or places of business a memorial window.

Resolutions were passed requesting the old-time patriotic Republicans to assist in the obsequies, on account of the nickel plated portion not being sufficiently numerous to undertake such a great task. It was suggested that the anti-free trade workingmen dig the trenches; the colored citizens to serve as pall-bearers; the nickel plated Republicans to be the chief mourners; the recently elected county officers to throw a disinfectant upon the corpse. Meeting still progressing; will send full report. NICKLE PLATE SEC.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Experience of fifty years in this and other States has fully demonstrated that Mutual Fire Insurance is the cheapest and consequently the best. THE COMMONWEALTH MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY, of Decatur, Illinois, is organized under this basis, having for incorporators some of the most successful business men of Decatur, who have tested fully the Mutual plan of Fire Insurance; and being desirous of keeping the money at home instead of paying it to foreign corporations, they have freely given their experience, time and labor to the formation of The Commonwealth Mutual Fire Insurance Company, in order that the people of this section may derive all the benefits of such an institution and the additional benefit of keeping the Insurance money at home. The Mutual system of Fire Insurance creates a personal interest in every policy holder, as every one who insures has an equal voice in its management. This is the surest guarantee the public can have, that the affairs of the Company will be managed solely in the interest of the policy holders.

Those wishing Insurance will please call at once, or address the Company at its office in "Central Block," where the Secretary or General Inspector will be pleased to write up any Insurance you may desire to place with The Commonwealth Mutual Fire Insurance Company, of Decatur, Ill.

WHAT A PETITION DID.

Promise of a New Wabash Freight House in Decatur in the Near Future.

Some weeks ago, it will be remembered, a petition asking the Wabash, St. Louis and Pacific railway company to provide better facilities in Decatur for handling freight was published in these columns and numerously signed by our business men. The following is a copy of the reply received:

WABASH, ST. LOUIS & PACIFIC R'Y CO.,
DIV. SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 5, 1882.

MESSRS. MORRHOUSE, WELLS & CO., E. D. BARTHOLOMEW & CO., LINN & SCRUGGS, and others:

GENTLEMEN—In reply to your favor dated October ultimo, our General Superintendent is aware of our present cramped condition as to loading and unloading of freight at Decatur, and writes that he has made the plans for a new freight house, to be placed west of the present house, and had hoped to have the same finished and in use before this time. We will make a special effort to start this and get it ready for business as soon as we can.

Yours truly, H. P. CLARK, Supt.

The present facilities for handling freight are very bad, and as the business of the city grows in extent and importance, it is absolutely necessary, in order that the wheels of trade may not be clogged, that a new and much larger freight house be built immediately. This matter is not only one of interest to every merchant and manufacturer, but it also affects every consumer at home and abroad in ways that are obvious to every thinking person. Mr. Wabash, give us a big freight depot, and be in a hurry about it.

Has Anybody Lost a Buggy?

The following card received by Marshal Hewes this morning explains itself:

TRENTON, Mo., Nov. 6, 1882.

CITY MARSHAL, Decatur, Ill. -Sir: I have under arrest a man who gives name Andy Adams, who has stolen team, both horses bright sorrel, 5 and 6 years old, heavy work harnesses, side spring top buggy, wide tread, well worn, and came from some place in southern Illinois. Adams is 24 or 26 years old, small black mustache, small side whiskers, and weigh 135 or 140. Please have your local papers advertise team, as I think he came from near your place. Will hold him until I hear from you.

JOHN A. SHANKLIN, City Marshal.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Charles Barnes and bride are spending their honeymoon in New York.

Cal. Waggoner says he will soon start west on his $100 bicycle.

Dr. E. R. Roe, of Bloomington, visited Decatur to-day.

Miss Susie Rockwell, of Taylorville, is in the city visiting her aunt, Mrs. Dr. Trowbridge.

Mrs. J. E. Rosette and her daughter, Miss Josie Rosette, of Springfield, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Abbott.

Mr. and Mrs. Enos M. Henkle, of Springfield, are guests of John D. Henkle and family. They will remain here over Sunday and perhaps longer.

Kate Claxton.

This famous actress will appear at the opera house on Saturday evening in "The Two Orphans." Said the New York Tribune:

Any one of the central figures of the play of the "Two Orphans," transferred to canvas, would be a study. The circumstances surrounding them are invariably poetic or picturesque. Almost every phase of men and women is presented; the bad are very bad; and the good are gentle and lovely in their worth, and shine in a bright and glorious light; but in the hands of Miss Claxton, Louise becomes the center of all interest, and the recipient of all sympathy.

Difficulties of Census Taking.

When the census was taken at Cherry Hill there was a great fluttering among the population, and it is related that all the ancient unmarried ladies, with the exception of one, went to see their aunts The one that stuck it out appeared to think that as she had known the census enumerator from boyhood, there was no reason for flight.

On the great day the census taker rowed up in a scow and arranged his victims along the bank. Everything went off according to the act of Congress, until the maiden lady was reached, then the trouble began to accrue

"What is your name?" asked the enumerator

"Oh, you needn't try to fool me, Tom Fletcher' I knew you when you failed in the kindling wood business, and swindled my father out of ten dollars'" replied the lady.

"Your name is Susan Pratt, isn't it?" asked the discomfited enumerator

"Then what did you ask me for?" demanded the lady.

"Unmarried, Miss Pratt?"

"I rejected you four times, Tim Fletcher, which shows that I could have married if I'd wanted to"

"How old are you now, Miss Pratt?" asked the enumerator, wiping his forehead

"The same age that you was when Jack Dodd's sister refused to elope with you' You know how old you were then, Tim Fletcher!"

"Any family?" asked the enumerator with a sardonic effort to get even.

"Yes, I have, Tim Fletcher I have your boy by your first wife, who I took out of the poor-house when you started off to get a Government position' Any more questions, Tim?"

Tim finished his report of her from memory, and pulled sadly down the river And now Miss Pratt watches the weekly Tribune to see that she is correctly represented when the returns are published in full

"If I am not" she remarks to the postmaster, as she takes her paper out, "I'll write to the Government and let it know how Tim Fletcher used to cut the hooks and eyes off his wife's dresses so she couldn't go out while he was gallivanting around."

Her Last Song.

Sister Mary Agnes Geibert, the famous soprano of Mount du Chantal, was quietly buried this afternoon in the cemetery near the college. There was probably no nun living in retirement from the world so widely known and so warmly loved as she. Twenty-five years ago Miss Geibert, in the blush of her early maidenhood, came from Philadelphia and entered the novitiate of the Sisters of the Visitation, then settled in this city. Said the Mother Superior in charge of the school, this afternoon after the funeral: "It is seldom that the tongue of common fame invades the quiet halls of a convent, and never was there a singer to whom fame came less welcome than to sister Mary Agnes. Her gentle nature seemed to blush at the high encomiums placed upon her singing, and her soul was frequently harrassed with fear lest the adulation should woo her heart to the love of earthly things. Her nature, as her countenance, was gentle, and she was happy in singing when it gratified her friends or added to the reputation of the institution. She brought to the sisterhood no broken heart, but came to holy vows in the brighest years of her life, and from the time of her coming to her death lived her peaceful life contented and happy. She was loved by all her pupils, whom she attracted here from all parts of the country, and not less by her sisters in the order. For a year or more she has been threatened with paralysis and has refrained from all but the lighter duties of her position. The highest medical skill of the city was secured, but without avail. Finally her throat was attacked. When the wonderful, pure soprano notes failed to come with her endeavor she gave up almost all hope of living beyond a few months, saying: "If my work were not concluded I would not so have been smitten in the one talent that was given me." For several years her voice had been used with the greatest consideration, and she only sang upon special occasions. Her last public performance was when a number of members of the last Legislature visited her. Her health was then greatly impaired, and she was urged not to sing, but she said in her kindly way, that it was a pity to disappoint those who had come out on purpose to hear her sing, and going to the piano sang for them her favorite hymn: "I Know that My Redeemer Liveth" The first notes of the song as they came weakly from the throat that had always added new beauty to the hymn before seemed a requiem to the ears of those who had been accustomed to the full resonance of her voice. As she sang, however, she seemed to be imbued with the spirit of the bygone days, and sang the last lines of the hymn with a fervor and tone that none who heard that last song will forget. It was in the evening, and the room was unlighted except by the fire, but when the last notes of the hymn died away and the sweet singer leaned forward exhausted upon the piano, the room seemed filled with warmth and light. After that evening she sang no more except in the privacy of her own room, where she frequently gave voice to her favorite hymns, until her voice grew weaker as her health failed. —Wheeling Cor. Pittsburgh Despatch.

Slave Marriages.

A curious case relating to the marriage status of former slaves has just been decided by the Supreme Court of Alabama. The controversy was between two women, each of whom claimed to be the widow of Gus Washington and entitled to dower in his estate One named Edie had been married to him in 1847, when both were slaves of the same master. The ceremony was performed by a colored minister, with the consent of the master. The two lived together as husband and wife till the fall of 1866 At that time the husband, being, then, of course, a freedman, took out a license and married another woman, with whom he lived till his death Under these circumstances the Court was called upon to decide which of the two had been the lawful wife It has been decided in favor of the one claiming by virtue of the slave marriage. It holds that slaves were not competent to enter into a valid marriage contract or hold the legal relation of husband and wife But in September, 1865, the Constitution of Albama declared that all freemen and freewomen then living together and recognizing one another as husband and wife should hold that relation under the law. The Supreme Court decides that this was ratification of the marital relations then existing between Gus and Edie Washington, and that this subsequent marriage with the other claimant was void

—At the present rate of consumption it is estimated that the supply of white pine timber in the United States will be exhausted in twelve years
